—It was rumored on the streets yesterday that the Nationalists were negotiating to buy off Ed Shaw. The sum of fifteen hundred dollars was hinted at, but Ed has too much backing to give way to the little Nationalist party, that can get but a handful of negro votes, and possibly more white votes than black. It is the interest of the Radical party, which established the black color line in this ontest, to keep the Nationalist nominees on the track.

—Early yesterday morning the north wing of the old Gayoso house, used as a bakery, was discovered on fire. The fire brigade, who had long been expecting a fire in the dilapidated old rookery, was promptly on hand, and the fire was confined to the locality where it developed, and was soon suppressed. Had it occurred late at night the entire building would have been enveloped in flames, and the adjoining blocks of buildings would have been in unminent danger of destruction. The damage done amounted to about two hundred dollars.

—For fear that it may be desied, it may be well to state that in the effort made by the Shelby county officials and the Nashville efficials to have the salary bill tested by the supreme court and declared unconstitutional, which was done, the men elected on the Greenback-National-Labor party ticket, Messrs. Turner, Fleece, Vaughna and Dwyer contributed their pro rate of money to pay lawyers and other expenses to bring about that result. Some months ago this was admitted, but now it seems to be denied by a few. The proof is forthcoming, if necessary or demanded.

—It was generally apoken of yesterday that Attorney-General Turner in his speech on the bluff on Tuneday night, while he landed Judge Horrigan and P. R. His remarks were received with applause by the audience that surrounded him.

Edward Shaw followedsin his usual ignorant and illiterate style. He of course abused southern Democrats, and attempted to defend himself from charges of incendiarism during yellow-fever epidemics, brought against him. He was bitter against the white race, and excited the worst and lowest passions of the negro race, which constituted his audience. The meeting closed at a late hour, the audience having dwindled away rapidly as the hours passed by.

cock and English Enthusiasm-Deadly Affray Between Citizens.

EDITORS APPEAL—It has been quite a while since we wrote from this wicked little prairie city, in fact not since the yellow-fever in Memphis last year. Since that time wonders have been wrought in the prosperity of Lonoke and our State generally, and perhaps Arkansas was never as happy as now. The whole population rejoice over the nomination of Hancock for the Presidency, and they are organizing clubs in every city, hamlet and neighborhood. We have been in quite a number of counties of late, and feel certain that when the ides of November roll around, wild Arkansas will give the Democratic nominees a square majority of forty thousand. Senator Garland is at home and is canvassing the State thoroughly in opposition to the Fishback amendment, which is at the hext election to be submitted to the people. This is a little strange, and takes by surprise those who have known and loved Gus Garland long and well. As a majority of the citzens think the amendment should be adopted, and taking a good supply of extra cartridges in her hand, she started in her night clothes for the scane. Before she reached the stable she discovered what seemed to be two white men and a negro, in charge of one of her gray horses, which had been taken from the stable, and two of the party were going out the stable door with the evident intention of stealing the other. She immediately, from behind a rail fence, discharged a load from the gun at the intruders. One of the robbers returned the fire from a pistol, at the same time retreating. Mrs. Gregor discharged the other barrel, and kept on loading and firing until she had discharged five shots at the enemy, when they took to their health and discharged five shots at the enemy, when they took to their health and little colored by to town for Mr. Hamilton Buchanan, her husband's former partner, who immediately responded to the call and returned with the little darky. A Duel Between Boys. London Telegraph: "A very novel descrip-tion of a duel which is reported from France tends to show that the rage for fighting is attaining to inconvenient proportions. Two lads, each about sixteen years of age, were, it seems, breakfasting together in a factory near the Rue Notre Dame de Nazareth, Paris, and, having quarreled, agreed to set-tle their dispute in what is now the prevail-ing fashion. They were not, however, in possession of foils, and, as a consequence,

DEADLY APPRAY.

Quite a sad affair occurred here yeaterday to mar the peace and tranquility of our usual quiet lows, one which is deprecated by every good man. Demps Jordan, a young man of about twenty-four years, and Dr. Alters, a physician, both of whom live in the Richwoods, some ten miles away south, came to town together and took several drinks, which made their blood a little too hot. Before they left for home they had hard words about a trivial matter, and Jordan remarked that "he would get even with Alters on the way home." Alters started out in a wagon and Jordan on horseback until they had proceeded as, far as the Methodist church, which is in the suburbs, when Jordan rode up to the wagon and Jordan dismounted. The wagon sarted on, the driver not wishing to witness the affair. Prof. Howell, who lived near, states that Alters endeavored to pull off his coat, and was in this attitude when Jordan ran on him and begun cutting him until be had failen to the ground. Not yet satisfied he stabbed him after he was down, and then mounteed and fied, but was afterward caught when running toward his home. Alters was hurned back to the office of Drs. Sessums & Ross, and upon examination it was found that his left side, beneath the lower rib, was cut entirely open, and one deep wound revealed the kidneys, which were cut. The coat he wore was literally cut to pieces. Alters is still alive, but his recovery is hardly hoped for. Colonel John Hallum, formerly of your city, has been employed in the defendant. Jordan is an unmarried man, and Alters has a wife and one child.

New Porils to Life.

London Daily News: "It is a disadvantage of civilization that it shows us the dangers to which life is exposed. Every year presents us with a new peril, and the latest is always the least expected. Frenchmen of science are now preaching a crussite against the industrious race of bees. Not only are they destructive to property, but they are actually dangerous to human life. The prefect of the Paris police has been appealed to. M.Delpech has drawn up a formidable brief, and is precise in his statements and clamorous in his demands. It seems that bee keeping is lucrative in the neighborhood of Paris, and that so also is the distillery of spirits and the refinery of sugar. Moreover, wherever there are sugarworks the bees are active and abundant. At Say, for instance, the less attributable to them is estimated at £1000 a year. M. Delpech gives facts and figures. At another refinery the number of bees killed daily amounted to twenty-two gallons full. He himself saw a large glass of syrup druak up in two hours. As to loss of life he is equally circumstantial. He gives a full list of people who died of beestings in, the course of the year. Most of the cases occurred in America, but many are furnished by France and some by Germany. The death is very painful, and in some cases extremely sudden. At Chemitz, in Hungary, a peasant stung while cutting a branch of a tree died on the spot. At Chester, in Pennsylvania, a farmer, examining some hives, was stung, fell at once into a state of syncope, and died within a quarter of ter, in Pennsylvania, a farmer, examining some hives, was stung, fell at once into a state of syncope, and died within a quarter of an hour. In another case twenty-five minutes elapsed between the wound and its fatal consequence. M. Delpech accordingly appeals to the prefect for the protection of the people, and what he asks is that the keeping of bees may be placed in the category of dangerous and unhealthy occupat.cms. The fourth Georgic of Virgil may be read with new interest.
